About Teach Kentucky

Teach Kentucky, an AmeriCorps program, recruits college graduates to launch their teaching careers in Louisville, Kentucky's public schools. For 16 years, we have recruited energetic, passionate, and tenacious would-be educators to our program from 40+ states and more than 100 top-tier colleges and universities.

Now in our 17th recruiting season, we have assembled more than $800,000 of funding for our candidates in 2018-19 from AmeriCorps, Jefferson County Public Schools, university partners, local foundations, and more. This means that the majority of our candidates pay little to no tuition for their Master of Arts in Teaching.

Beyond funding, Teach Kentucky provides robust support for teachers during their first two years, as they teach full time while earning their MAT, and beyond. We seek applicants with a deep content knowledge and a desire to make a difference in an urban public school environment.
